THREE young men charged with assaulting a Cairns police officer so seriously he was knocked unconscious have been granted bail.

Brothers Brodie and Darcy Rayner, 22 and 21, and 20-year-old Jayden Symons had allegedly been asked to leave a licensed venue where they had been attending a wake for motorbike crash victim Cory Duncan about 7pm last night when they attacked the 28-year-old Acting Sergeant near the Esplanade Lagoon.

All three appeared in the Cairns Magistrates Court this morning charged with seriously assaulting police causing bodily harm and wilfully damaging police property, while Darcy Rayner is also charged with serious assault police and two counts of assault police.

Cairns street brawl with Police caught on camera

Police prosecutor Acting Sergeant Morgan Harris described the alleged offending as a "very violent assault on a police officer", that involved "stomping and punching".

She objected to their bail and said the alleged incident had been captured on City Safe CCTV.

She told the court the officer had received a concussion, bruises and grazing as a result of the incident.

The news in colour

Jayden Symons, 20, Darcy Rayner, 21 and Brodie Rayner, 22 have been charged with the alleged assault on a Cairns police officer.

Duty lawyer Steve Wettenhall said the three men had been at a wake for a close friend, who had recently died in a motorbike crash.

"They were in a highly emotional state," Mr Wettenhall said, adding they were all significantly intoxicated.

Police furious over alleged assault

The court heard none of the three had any criminal history.

Acting Magistrate Susie Warrington granted them bail but were given a banning order from the Cairns CBD. The case was adjourned until July 19.

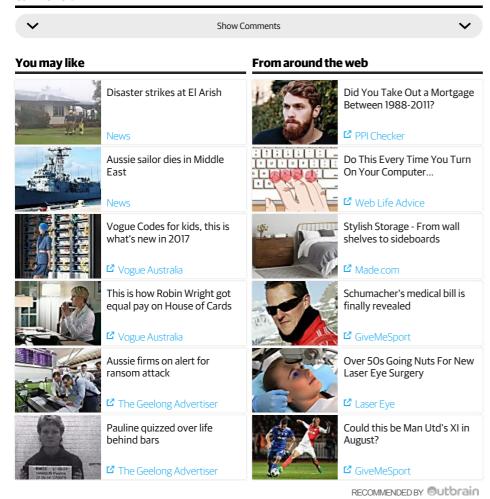

Four men were arrested on Abbott St in Cairns tonght

The Far North has some of the worst figures for attacks on police in Queensland and senior officers have condemned the alleged incident which they labelled "cowardly".

"Our officers are just out there trying to do their job, trying to make our community safe and they should not be subject to this at all," Acting Supt

"It's not good enough, not acceptable."
